Jerry Wesse's diving catch of a tipped pass on the final play of the game smapped a 12-12 tie to give Circle K the Intramural football championship over the Black 76'ers. The teams reached the finals with lopsided victories over the Superstars and the Schmucks.

A pair of interceptions by Danny Lee paved the way for two Circle K touchdowns. Bill Dean ran for one score and threw to Tommy Bussey for the other. The 76'ers tied the game on two TD receptions by Hannie Welcher, one from brother Greg, the other from Danny Freeman. The game remained tied until Weese's game winning grab.

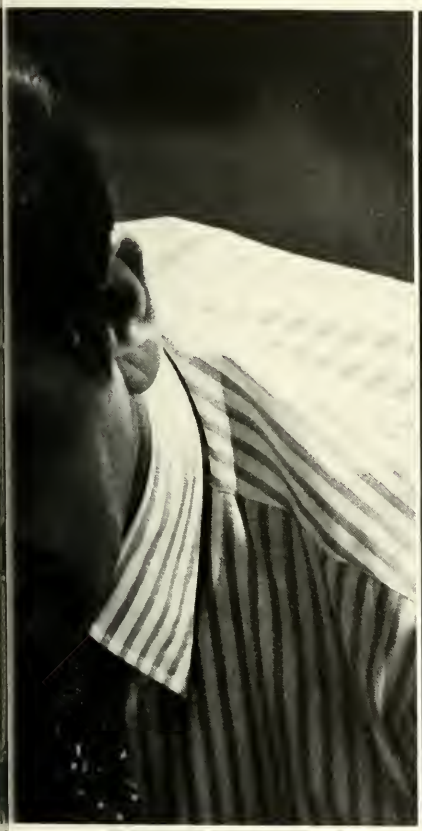
Coach Marvin

Vanover



For most teams a 17-8 record would be sufficient reason for joyous celebration, but for the Jags 1971-72 must be considered an off season. However, when the team's extreme lack of height and dismal shooting for about 2/3 of the year are taken into account 17-8 was not that bad.

Six of the eight losses came against three of the top teams in District 25, and the Jags had two near misses against Mercer, who lost by only 6 points to the eventual NCAA-College Division Champ.

The Jags were extremely tough at the beginning (8-1) and end (5-0) of the season, but weren't so hot in between. The Jags went through most of the tough portion of their schedule with a front line that averaged around 6-3, which is not that big for a high school team.

With a strong recruiting year, and that long sought big man, Jag fortunes may rise this year with four of the five starters back.

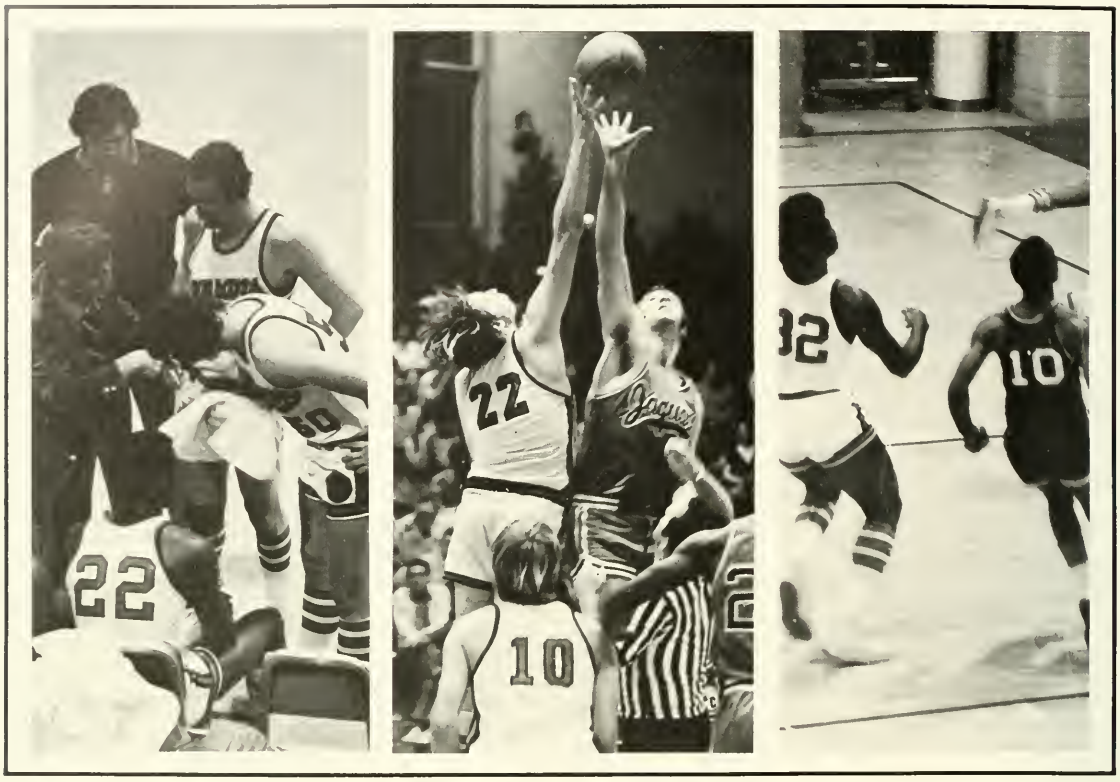
VIC TINSLEY-It is questionable as to whether Augusta College will ever come up with a player the defensive equal of VIC. VIC's contributions to the team went far deeper than the box score indicates, and after the return of HENRY DAVIS to the starting lineup, he moved to center, where he was never embarrassed, despite his stature (6-5).

Ben Davis-Ben snapped what had been a year long shooting slump with a brilliant performance down the stretch, and finished as the team's leading scorer, averaging better than 18 a game. Ben pumped in 38 points against Columbus for the highest individual output of any Jag last season. Ben shot well over 50% from the field in pacing the Jags' strong finish, which is remarkable when you consider the average length of his shots.

Bob Kemp-Bob transferred to AC from Northeast Oklahoma JC along with Mel Hall, where he established himself as a highly capable floor leader. Bob moved right into the starting lineup with the Jags, but never righted himself after a poor start. Some hard post-season practice should pay off for Bob, and he will, in all probability, be an entirely new ballplayer in 1972-73.



Henry Davis-Henry, better known as Chicken Man, started the season in fine shape with a 28 point performance in the season opener, but was injured the next night. He did not recover fully for about six weeks, but when he finally returned to form, he displayed the ability that could make him XC's third All-American. In the final half of the season he averaged about 22 points and 11 rebounds as a 6-2 forward. Henry has two years left at XC, and should hold most of the individual records before he graduates.

Mel Hall-If anything good came out of the injury to Henry, it was the emergence of Mel Hall as a starter for the Jags. Mel, known for his great hustle and leaping ability, established himself as possibly the most consistent performer on the team, averaging 16 points and 11 rebounds per contest, although he was constantly outmatched physically by opposing forwards.

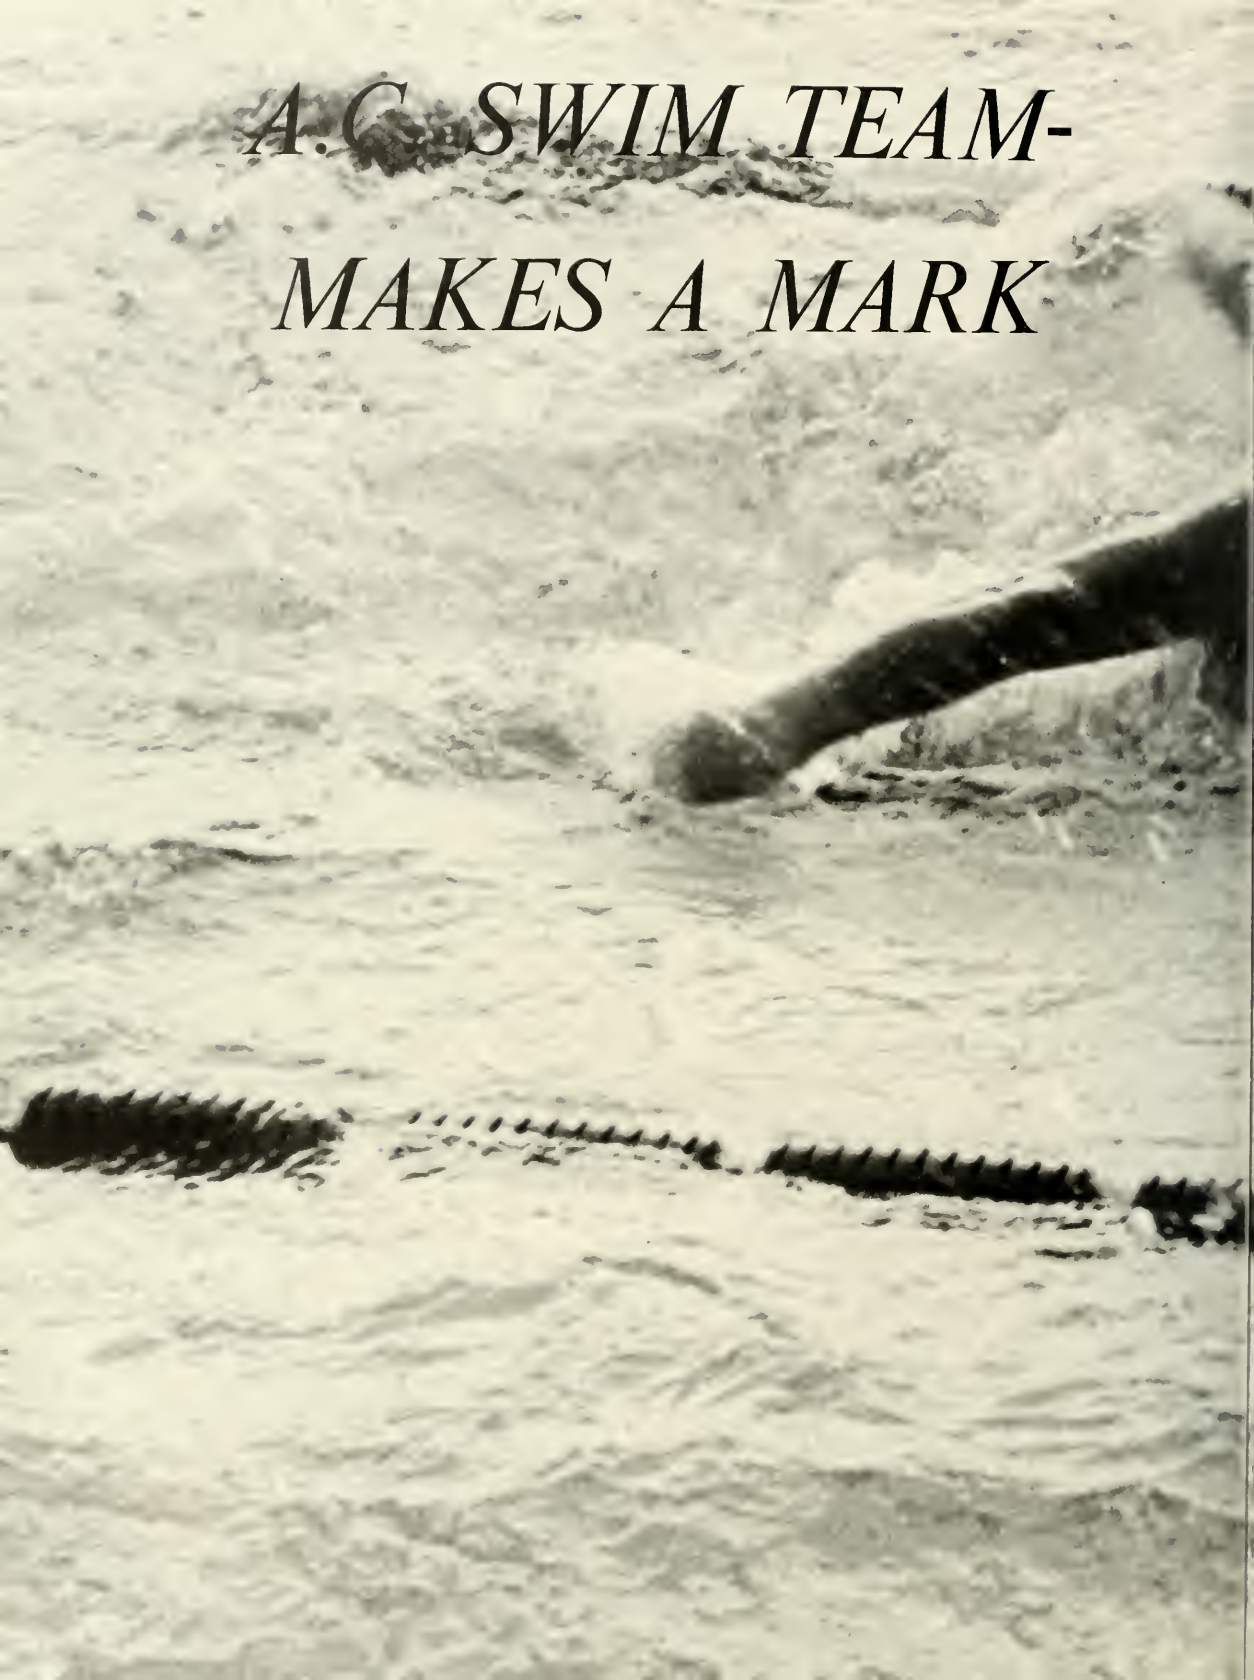
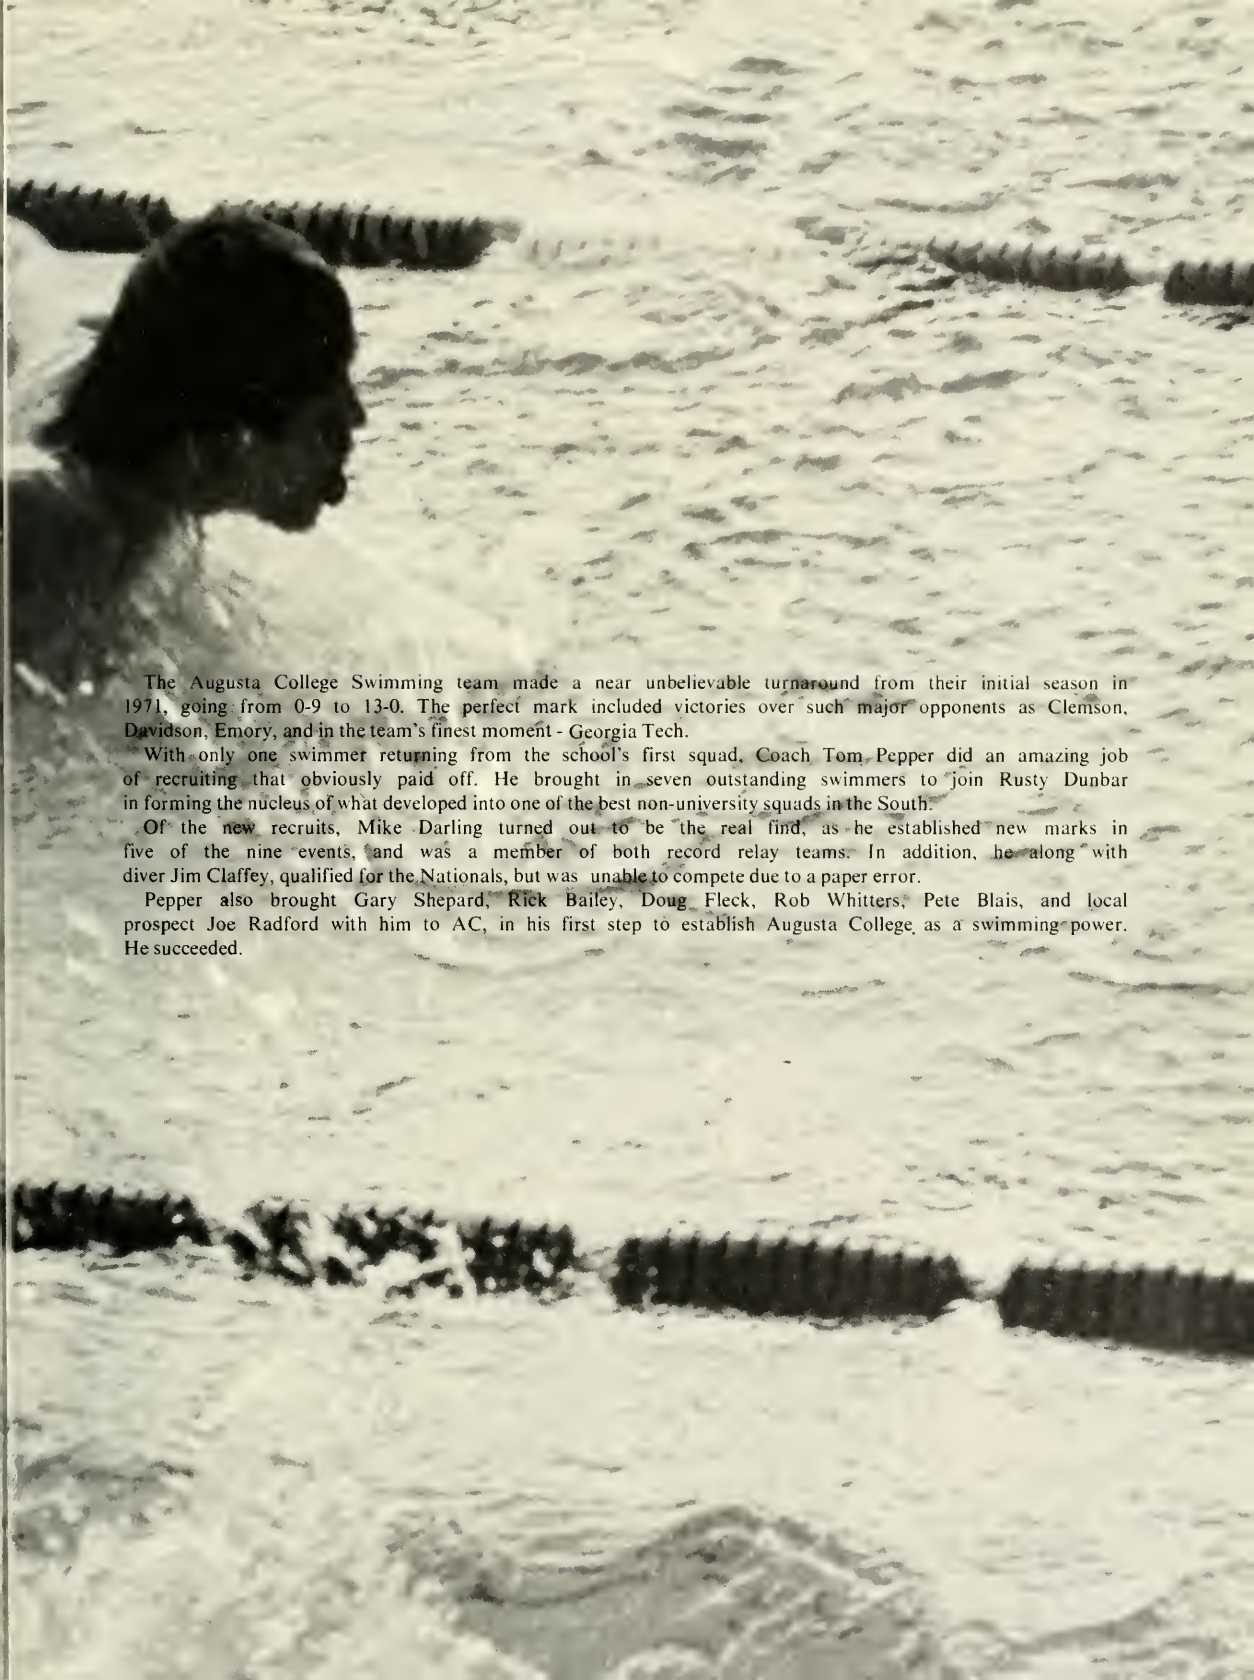
A.C. SWIM TEAM-
MAKES A MARK





The Augusta College Swimming team made a near unbelievable turnaround from their initial season in 1971, going from 0-9 to 13-0. The perfect mark included victories over such major opponents as Clemson, Davidson, Emory, and in the team's finest moment - Georgia Tech.

With only one swimmer returning from the school's first squad, Coach Tom Pepper did an amazing job of recruiting that obviously paid off. He brought in seven outstanding swimmers to join Rusty Dunbar in forming the nucleus of what developed into one of the best non-university squads in the South.

Of the new recruits, Mike Darling turned out to be the real find, as he established new marks in five of the nine events, and was a member of both record relay teams. In addition, he along with diver Jim Claffey, qualified for the Nationals, but was unable to compete due to a paper error.

Pepper also brought Gary Shepard, Rick Bailey, Doug Fleck, Rob Whitters, Pete Blais, and local prospect Joe Radford with him to AC, in his first step to establish Augusta College as a swimming power. He succeeded.

Coach Denny Burau

Baseball

The Augusta College baseball team enjoyed its most successful season ever, as the Jags posted a 13-10 record. All was not entirely joyous, however. AC dropped its last four games and the losses prevented the Jags from making their first appearance ever in the District Playoffs.

Rod Thompson was elected the team's Most Valuable Player, and merited the award with a team leading batting average of .373. Rod also led the Jag hitters in runs (22) and hits (31), tied for the lead with Keith Ford in homers with five, and placed second to Ford with 21 RBI's.

Ford likewise led the team in a number of offensive statistics, doubles, triples, total bases, and RBI's (25), averaging better than one per game. He batted .333, behind only R. Thompson and Eddie George (.349).

Rickey Brown paced the Jag hurlers with a 5-4 record, although he tailed off considerably near the end of the season. At one time he sported an ERA of just over 1, but finished with a mark of 4.06. David Haskell was the surprise of the pitching staff, as he was unbeaten in three decisions, and was the lone AC pitcher with an ERA below 3.

Pending in the last pages [illegible] a yearbook is always [illegible]hat the editor looks forward to while preparing the book. It is a time of relief, a time [illegible] look back and thank [illegible] those who helped, and to wonder why those others didn't. It takes a lot to put a year[illegible] together; both painful and dull, but [illegible] the same time pleasure and fun in knowing that it will remain.

Though I won[illegible] the Staff [illegible]rd, I would rather at[illegible]ls time give [illegible] to the person who helped me the most [illegible] putting the book [illegible]ogether-DI[illegible] KANDLER, my w[illegible] After graduation, we finished putting the book together.

There's more also to interpret interpretations, than to interpret things, and more books upon books, than upon any other subject.

The things we conceive very clearly and distinctly are all true... there is only some difficulty in observing which are those things that we conceive distinctly.

Nothing is more important when we deal with the populace than to give it the impression that we are on the defensive, even when we attack.

... Humanity is so to speak a negligible quantity in the sovereign order of the rest of the universe. The more the reason then, for humanity to put some order into its own little world, to try to arrange that the sequence of generations that make it up spend their days on untroubled, or little at the mercy at chance and fatality, as may be.

Good God! What times are these, when man can say to man - Agree that we are brothers - or I'll beat you up.
